Western Legacy Sales Introduces the Newest Concept in Horse Protection

Alvarado, TX / June 27, 2007 / -- Western Legacy Sales, LLC introduces Paddie™, the newest concept in horse protection during transport and stabling.

Paddie™ is an innovative product designed to suspend from horse trailer stall dividers using heavy nylon straps and quick release snaps. Installing Paddie™ on the lower dividers prevents horses from coming into contact with each other during transport – reducing the risk of injury.

Designed by horsemen, Paddie™ is not only effective in preventing injuries but reduces the need for shipping boots or protective wraps for extended travel – saving both time and money. Ward Heid, president of Western Legacy Sales, LLC, explained, “Paddie™ will save your horse from upper and lower leg injuries, keeping your valuable animals safe during transport.”

Paddie™ is constructed of 2" high density, impact resistant foam and covered with #600 Denier Canvas that is moisture and rot resistant. The free moving attachments allow Paddie™ to float freely over bedding and will not hang up. Paddie™ is designed to fit most steel or aluminum trailers. With optional wall mounting, Paddie™ can be installed on trailer end walls to help prevent hock and other injuries.

In addition to providing safety during transport, Paddie™ can be installed on stable walls to help prevent stall injuries. Paddie installs in minutes making it an ideal product to protect your horses when stabling at a horse show or other event. Ward Heid explains, “This product has so many uses. Paddie™ has been used in the roping box and even under sleeping bags as a pad.”

At just $179.95 (MSRP), Paddie™ allows horseman to protect their valuable horse investment with confidence.
